

Dear Pambos,

My name is Andreas Zorpas and I'm a student in Paralimni Gymnasium. Since 2013, I have been participating in a Comenius project with the title "Roots and Wings". Part of my work is to research about your city, Barcelona. During my research, I realized that there are so many things to do and see in Barcelona.

First of all, I was amazed by the huge and magnificent Sagrada Família, the Roman Catholic Church. I read that it was designed by the Catalan architect Antoni Gaudí. The Church is located in the centre of Barcelona and it is visited by millions of people every year. I also understand that the constructions there never end.

I also wanted to ask, if it's true that 300,000 of the city's population (around 1.6 millions) are immigrants?

In addition, there is the Park of Güell. This park consists of many gardens and different colorful buildings. I read that the park was built between 1900 and 1914 and today it is a World Heritage Site under "Works of Antoni Gaudí".

Furthermore, as a footballer fan, I was so fascinated reading about Camp Nou. It's been the home of Barcelona Football Club since 1957 and it's the largest stadium in Europe.

I love chocolates and I was so happy to read that in Barcelona someone can visit the Museu de la Xocolata which shows the history of chocolate in Europe. I'd love to go there and taste all the kinds of chocolate.

Finally, I read that the traditional bullfighting had been banned by law in 2013.

Are all the above real facts? Is this information true?

Best regards

Andreas Zorpas
