

Dear Andri,

My name is Maria Pashi and I am a student in Paralimni Gymnasium. Since 2013, I have been participating in a Comenius project with the title "Roots and Wings". Part of my work is to research about your city, Manchester.

According to what I read, Manchester is one of the largest cities in United Kingdom and is situated in northwest in England. Its population is approximately 464,000. Is it true?

I found out that Manchester is a wonderful place with many commercial, industrial and cultural centers such as the First Street and Gary Neville's House. Is it true?

Additionally, Manchester becomes well known from football. The two famous teams are Manchester City and Manchester United. Am I right?

Is it correct that Manchester has many universities such as the Metropolitan University of Manchester and Manchester International College?

There are many sightseeing that tourists can see such as People's History Museum, Museum of Science and Industry and Manchester Arena which is the biggest arena in United Kingdom. Is it true?

I was very surprised to learn through my research that Manchester has been named the third most diverse city in the world, just behind Paris and New York. Almost 200 different languages are spoken in Manchester. Is it really true?

Best Regards

Maria Pashie
